

Evaluations

What is the purpose of an evaluation?

The purpose of an evaluation is to determine if a student is eligible for special education and related services, and to determine what services are needed. Students should not be evaluated in all areas of suspected disability.

What is the timeline?

After the special education administrator receives a referral for an evaluation, eligibility for special education and related services must be determined within 65 BUSINESS days, unless parents and the school agree in writing that more time is needed.
